Designer who owns the whole arc — research and product strategy, brand systems, marketing, and the production front end I build myself. Founded a solo design-and-build practice, cofounded three startups, and originated the core IP behind a patent-pending system. Most useful where design, business, and engineering meet, and I take the part of the problem nobody owns.

EXPERIENCE

Founder & Creative Director

jacobstarr.work LLC

New Orleans, LA

November 2024 – Present

- Built a solo design-and-build practice from nothing: branding, product and web design, front-end engineering, and marketing consultation across 15+ engagements in IT, legal, healthcare, foodservice, construction, publishing, real estate, and nonprofits. Nearly $60K collected, almost entirely through referral chains, sold off a productized service menu and a four-phase process I defined.
- Flagship, $10K brand split: took a sixteen-year-old managed IT company and its automation spinoff from one confused brand to two — positioning, two identities, two custom WordPress themes built with Claude Code, copy, and launch ops. 98+ Lighthouse and 100 accessibility on both; 1,126 organic new users in four months.
- Fractional marketing director for a three-brand home-services group: built their marketing operations from zero — vendor cadences, a KPI framework stripped of vanity metrics, an SEO vendor replacement, and four paid campaigns at full spec. Kitchen leads went 1 to 7 with cost per lead down 81%; remodeling CPL halved.
- Rebuilt a 110-year-old foodservice brand after usability testing showed 12 of 15 participants could not find its service range; post-launch 55K pageviews, +24% YoY, bounce down 10%.
- Own brand identity end to end — pulled a litigation firm's positioning out of a stakeholder who could only name what she disliked; built a nonprofit a modifiable color system so its mark flexes to each partner clinic.

Product Designer & Cofounder

Dio Platforms

Remote

January 2024 – Present

- Originated the patent-pending concept, not just its design: batching drink orders by preparation complexity across three tiers rather than by order time. Patent filed.
- Timed field study at a partner bar cut wait times from ~9.5 minutes to ~3 — baseline measured during live service against an after-hours simulation of the digitized flow.
- Led all design through 2024 — product, brand, payment flows, the patent filing — and built the Figma design system: UI tokens informed by NN/g heuristics and component libraries with responsive variables for developer handoff. Advisory since.

Product Designer & Cofounder

OtterLoon

Remote

September 2024 – March 2025

- Lead designer and equity cofounder of an “anti-LinkedIn” networking app; directed end-to-end UX research including 100+ product-market interviews, ethnographic study, and usability testing.
- Cut scope on evidence rather than instinct: killed the planned gamified culture-fit minigames after contradictory trust feedback, and moved job search to the R&D backlog to focus the MVP.
